

NEGRO DROWNS WHEN STRICKEN WITH CRAMPS

Ike Buffin, a negro about 40 years old, tenant on H. R. Taylor's farm near Harleton, was drowned about 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon in a pond on the place.

Buffin and several other negroes were swimming in the pond when he was stricken with cramps and went down before help could reach him.

The negroes who were swimming with Buffin left the pond when he drowned and the body was recovered by several white boys.
